EARTH DAY 2015

"On Earth Day, let us join with communities around the world, and as one people -- who share one planet -- let us recommit to meeting the test of our time and continuing our work to build a cleaner, safer, more stable world." President Barack Obama.

"Climate change, if unchecked, is an urgent threat to health, food supplies, biodiversity and livelihoods across the globe," Secretary of State John Kerry

Earth Day, observed annually on April 22, is a global celebration of planet earth. It is a time to assess the health of the natural environment and to focus on the work needed to preserve our planet. The United States affirms that environmental awareness is part of the country's consciousness and that the idea of protecting the environment, including by addressing climate change, has taken center stage in numerous U.S. debates.

The Lincoln Corners across Malaysia join Earth Day celebrations sharing U.S. perspectives on the subject, including climate Change. They offer library materials, including computers and iPads for the public to freely access this webliography and/or to browse or borrow books, and DVDs, or to access E-Library USA (electronic databases) which cover a range of topics about protecting Mother Earth and related topics, all free of charge.
